R. E. Baird, Pioneer Of Randall County, Anxious To Finish Museum

R. E. Baird, who was 87 years old September 21, holds the distinctive honor of being the oldest citizen of Randall county in terms of residence. Mr. Baird, with two companions rode up to the T-Anchor ranch house, in March, 1883, from Wise county, was hired as a line rider, and this has been his home since that day.

Mr. Baird has witnessed and participated in many of the events which go to make up the history of the Panhandle. Now, he is giving his support to preserve them for future generations. To date he has given the largest contribution received by the Panhandle-Plains Historical Society for its museum. Mr. Baird has donated a total of $1,250 toward the completion of the museum in addition to a wealth of interest, time and very valuable information.

During the sixty-four years of his residence here, Mr. Baird has seen Canyon grow from the one home, the T-Anchor ranch house, only one in this section. He has seen educational facilities develop from a small box school on the prairie, taught by Miss Emma Turner, with only a few pupils, to West Texas State College, with many instructors, and hundreds of students. He has one wish he hopes to see fulfilled, and that is the completion of the Panhandle - Plains Historical Museum. In speaking of the museum, Mr. Baird said, "I'd love to see it continue, and I want to see it completed." He believes that it belongs to all the people of the Panhandle, and that by their contributions it will be completed. "Small donations add up to large sums," he emphasized.

Mr. Baird was born in Cook county in 1860. His people came from Tennessee in 1854 and settled along a small branch which still bears his father's name, the Sam Baird Branch.

His brother, Will C. Baird, joined him here in 1884, and was also employed as a cowpuncher for the T-Anchor. A second brother, Albert, and a sister, Miss Sallie, arrived in 1890 to make their home. W. C. and Albert died within a week of each other in March twenty-five years ago, and Miss Sallie died in 1943. R. E., Albert and Miss Sallie made their home together.

Mr. Baird has two nieces, Mrs. C. R. Flesher of Canyon and Mrs. C. P. Stephenson of Amarillo, both daughters of Will C. Baird.

In relating some of his early experiences, Mr. Baird said that when he and the two men with him, John Sadler of Sherman, and Bud May originally of Kentucky, but later also a resident of Wise county, reached the T-Anchor ranch, they found a strike in progress. The six cowboys for the outfit were striking for higher wages, an increase of from $30 to $50 for cowpunchers and $75 for the foreman. Mr. Baird and his friends went to work for the T-Anchor, and four of the six striking 'punchers later returned to work.

The old T-Anchor ranch house, which is located one mile north of West Texas State, is now a part of the College Farm. At the time of Mr. Baird's arrival, it was headquarters for the ranch which took in all of Deaf Smith county and all but a small portion of the northern part of Randall county. It was a part of the Dyer Bros. outfit, and was controlled by Jot and Jewell Guenter and W. B. Munsin. Interesting today is the G. M. G. monogram which was carved on the ranch house door in 1882.

There were only ten men in Randall and Deaf Smith counties in 1883. First families to arrive were those of L. G. Conner and W. F. Heller. Mobetie was the nearest post office, and the uses of the plow were unknown with the exception of breaking fire guards. Prairie fires were frequent and destructive since there was no effective means of fighting them.

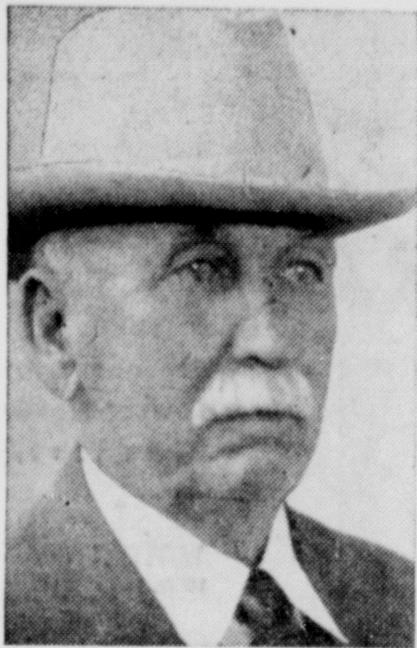

Mr. Baird remembers most of the "firsts" as they occurred in this section; the first fence, which was the T-Anchor drift fence in the east part of the county; the court house which was erected in the center of the T-Anchor ranch; the first school; the first church services which were conducted in the district court room, where ministers of all denominations were welcome. The court room was also the scene of the community dances, which formed the only recreation for these hardworking pioneers.

The first election was held in 1884 when 18 votes were cast in what are now Randall and Deaf Smith counties combined.

Randall county was organized July 27, 1889, and on Aug. 12, L. G. Conner, founder of Canyon, gave a section to be used as the townsite. Numbers were drawn for lots which went free of charge to persons who cared to build houses.

All transportation was by horseback or horse drawn vehicles, and freighters hauled great amounts of bleached buffalo bones east to be used as fertilizer. The buffaloes had

Red Mites Are Walnut Danger

The European red mite has been found on walnut trees in Randall county. It lives on apple trees and is found on walnut and pecan trees that grow near apple trees.

It will kill trees if not controlled as it multiplies rapidly and takes out great quantities of moisture. It is controlled by using sulphur. Either dust with cotton dusting sulphur or spray wettable sulphur.

The mites found in this county and identified by J. T. Rosborough, horticulturist of Texas A. & M. College Extension Service, were not red in color. They were the same brownish green color as the underside of the walnut leaves on which they were found.

Here are the symptoms of red mites on trees. The leaves turn brown, curl on the edges, and if badly infected the trees drop their leaves. The general appearance of a tree with red mites on it is the same as a tree dying for lack of water.

Look on the underside of the leaves for these tiny insects. They usually line up along the veins of the leaves and a magnifying glass is helpful in seeing them.

Homecoming Brings a Large and Colorful Crowd to Canyon

Motorbike Owners Must Get License Machine, Driver

There are a large number of boys in Canyon who are operating motorbikes in violation of the law.

Sheriff M. E. Cantrell has just received a ruling from Austin which requires that all motorbikes be equipped with Texas License plates; and that all operators of motorbikes must pass the examinations for State Drivers License. Many of the boys who are driving the motorbikes will be ruled out because they are not old enough to secure the drivers' license.

Parents are requested to cooperate in seeing that the motorbike owners are meeting all requirements of the law.

County Shorthorn Breeders Attend American Royal

Milking Shorthorn Breeders, R. A. Brown, Marion Bruce and Reeves Donnell, of Randall County, left Tuesday for Kansas City to attend the National Milking Shorthorn Show and Sale at the American Royal. The annual meeting Wednesday evening of the milking shorthorn breeders from all over the nation is another feature of their trip.

State herds have been selected from prominent breeders in the respective states to compete against each other at the National Show, and only cattle in this show can be consigned to the sale. The competition in the show ring and bidding on the sale cattle should be something of a record, since only 16 head of milking shorthorns from a state and no private owned herds can show.

Parade, Barbecue Football Victory

West Texas State Homecoming was the greatest success of any event held in Canyon since the monster celebration of July 29, 1939 when the 50th Anniversary of the founding of Canyon and Randall county was held.

Activities started Friday night, when the Homecoming pep rally and bonfire brought out a monster crowd. The play which followed was largely attended.

It was evident from activities Saturday morning both the campus and in town that the parade would be a great success. However, this feature far surpassed the most enthusiastic.

In the parade were 155 units, representing practically all business firms of Canyon, twelve bands and drum corps, various groups from the college, together with 60 horses and one burro. The floats were well distributed, and the bands well placed throughout the parade. From pictures included in this issue of the News it is evident that much time and effort was spent in preparation of the floats.

Approximately 5,500 persons ate at the barbecue at noon on the campus.

Long before gametime Buffalo Stadium was filled. It was the largest crowd ever to witness a football game at the new stadium. The new bleachers on the east side were augmented by temporary bleachers, and chairs for the visiting bands.

Crowning of the queen was a colorful affair, and with Queen Peggy Head, and her four escorts taking the throne on the east side of the field. The Buffs caught the inspiration of the day and easily won 38 - 0.

Dances at Randall and Cousins Hall closed the events of the day.

As the colorful day came to a successful close, students, faculty members and citizens of Canyon began thinking of even a greater homecoming for 1948.

Christmas Songs By Large Chorus

A community chorus is being organized to put on a Christmas program of song in December. Leadership in the movement is the Music Arts Club, which has selected Glenn Truax as director of the chorus. First practice will be at the Baptist Church on Thursday night of next week.

Every person in Randall county who can sing is urged by Mr. Truax to come to the practice. The choirs of every church in the county, all choruses and individuals who like to sing are invited to the first meeting of the community chorus.

Editorials

When we read of the loss to taxpayers of county and city hospitals, we are truly grateful that Canyon has good hospital facilities, ably managed as private institutions. It takes good business policies to keep a hospital out of the red. The public imposes on public-owned hospitals, and no doubt many persons try to impose upon privately-owned hospitals. Those who do not have to use the facilities of a hospital are indeed very, very fortunate. Those who do use these splendid facilities should consider the health building advantages and pay their accounts promptly. The hospital must pay its own accounts, and no sentiment is shown to these institutions. While being thankful for the medical progress that has been made during the past generation, make this thankful tangible by keeping hospital bills paid up promptly.

When you enjoy a good glass of milk, consider that you are drinking at the expense of the producers of Randall county. It is tough to break even on milk these days of high prices and scarcity of roughage for the dairy cow. We see where some towns and cities of the Southwest are running out of milk, simply because there is no feed and the farmers are quitting the dairy business. The boost in price of milk which has been granted will partially take care of the situation now, but actually, according to farmers, they are not making money from their dairy products. If they had wheat pasture, it would be a different story.

Some counties on the Plains have received good rains; others have received none. Those who did not receive moisture are still looking for rain. The wheat experts say that it is not too late for a good wheat crop in 1948, but agree that winter pasture is out for this year. Pioneers in the wheat business used to say that a good crop could be made when wheat was planted as late as January 1st. According to this observer, late planting depends entirely upon spring moisture. However, on the whole every wheat crop probably depends to a great extent upon spring moisture, even when there is a sufficient amount of fall moisture to provide good winter pasture.

Former Secretary of State Jimmy Byrnes reveals that an hour before his death President Roosevelt advised Winston Churchill that it would be necessary for the United States and England to get firm with Russia. It seems that Roosevelt realized that Stalin had talked Roosevelt and Churchill into the corner, and was getting the best of the deal. Byrnes was at Roosevelt's side during the Yalta conference when it is revealed that Stalin got everything he asked, without giving anything in return. America was so anxious to win the war that we little suspected that we would be given the double cross by Stalin, as it has now turned out.

Panhandle newspaper publishers are getting quite a jolt these days. George Young of KGNC has a Sunday morning program at 8 o'clock on which he has visiting publishers perform. Most of us have the idea that we are some pumpkins when it comes to making a public speech. The joke is that the program is transcribed on Saturday afternoons, and the publisher sits back and listens to himself talk Sunday morning. What a let down! How disillusioning! Yes we know, because George put this poor soul on the first program, and our voice sounded like it came from a tired old man. George should be ashamed of the manner in which he exposes us poor weekly publishers.

In spite of the criticism of stock market gambling, the boys who play the markets are more active than ever before the President's criticism. The President has slashed out at this practice, but his criticism is not generally accepted. After all, there is a tingle of the gambling spirit in the blood stream of most Americans. They know that they cannot win all of the time, but are willing to take a chance.

The Homecoming of West Texas State brought evidence of new life and renewed faith in the future. Naturally the war quieted things down on the campus. Then the athletic blow-up of last year had a bad effect. Peace and harmony reigns this year, with all students, exes and friends of West Texas State over the entire Southwest working together to build a greater institution. Fire burns the dross. The house cleaning of last year should have lasting effects, and good effects.

General Eisenhower has turned his back on good wishers who want him to run for President on the Republican ticket in 1948. However, the rumor still maintains that General MacArthur is determined to return to America by January 1st with the thought in mind that he could be inducted to run. There will be plenty of political activity in the nation for those who have a poll tax receipt. When you pay your taxes, be sure to be armed for the 1948 political battle.

During his lifetime President Roosevelt was often criticised for delaying so much in making up his mind on important issues. Now Truman is being criticised for being too hasty. It is said by Washington observers that Truman jumps at conclusions, and goes off the deep end without taking into consideration all sides of vital issues. Being president is a tough job, and no man in the White House can please all of the people, all of the time.

President Truman has let it be known that he is opposed to governmental regulation of vital foods. He does not wish to see rationing reinstated. On the other hand outspoken New Dealers are demanding that the President again set up rationing, as a step toward pure Democracy. We shall see what we shall see.

John L. Lewis has been clipped by the AFL and is taking a long walk. This will mean that his miners again will be out of AFL. Lewis can hardly go back to CIO, since he bet his job in a determination to defeat Roosevelt. Lewis is dynamite to all labor leaders. He is the bird who must rule or break, and just now most of the leaders are wondering what will happen to them.

Since we are going to give Europe food for the starving, why not ship over some of the millions of pounds of eggs and poultry which are in storage in this country, bought under the price support program. Europe wants wheat, we are told. Why? To make liquor? That's where a lot of our grains which was shipped to Europe has gone in the past.

ECONOMIC HIGHLIGHTS

The September 29 issue of Life carried an article of John Dos Passos, the distinguished American novelist, which is one of the most vivid and revealing accounts of the British crisis yet written. Mr. Dos Passos toured England with the point of view of a writer, not a statistician—his interest lies in people, not in reports and analyses. He talked to legions of English men and women, representing all political faiths and all economic and social levels. In his article, he does not editorialize—he simply reports and interprets.

Mr. Dos Passos' article is called "Britain's Dim Dictatorship," and its sub-title reads, "Under a government of their own creation, British working people are gradually being strangled to death in a morass of poverty and ineptitude." That gives a good idea of what the writer, who has long been known as a liberal and an advocate of social reform, found from one end of England to the other. Early in his article he quotes, without comment of his own, a young man who told him in Oxonian tones, "England's dead, quite dead, quite. We're the lost island of the Atlantic, sunk in the everlasting ennui."

It would be ridiculous to say that the Labor government is responsible for all of Britain's ills. The troubles go deep into the past, long before Labor comes to power. But the impression the reader gets from Mr. Dos Passos' piece—like practically all other writings on the subject—is that Labor's policy has enormously complicated them. It has done that, not only through the promotion of socialism, but by a vast extension and deepening of bureaucracy. Mr. Dos Passos writes: "As measure after dictatorial measure comes up to curtail the already frail liberties of the individual Briton, the party machine rolls ponderously on." In Hyde Park, where the soapboxes were once exclusively occupied by eccentric advocates of socialism and communism, there are now speakers for free enterprise.

It seems true that the British worker as the saying goes, is no longer "putting his back into it." An industrialist told Mr. Dos Passos that the trouble is "that now there's no penalty for slack words and no prize for effort." A leader of miners told him much the same thing. In their electioneering, the Labor candidates went a long way in promising workers a Utopia. The workers are waiting for it to be delivered. Young men are refusing to go into the mines—"the father leads the sons past the pithead." And the middle-class, burdened by enormous taxes and restrictions, is being squeezed hard. Mr. Dos Passos writes of two men who started as tool-makers and went into business for themselves 22 years ago. They told him that it would be impossible for young men to do that now—it would cost too much, and it would be too difficult to get the needed materials.

What can be fairly termed the administrative inefficiency and sloth of the government is a terrible barrier to British industry. Mr. Dos Passos reports a conversation with the manager of a plant that manufactures leather goods with rayon linings. To get the rayon, he first has to find a firm that is willing to supply it. Then accountants must certify the yardage used in the previous quarter. Then he must send his export orders to the Board of Trade. Then, in time, the Board may give him a license to buy. Then, finally, if the rayon hasn't been sold elsewhere, he gets it. This manager had been corresponding with the Board for seven months trying to get permission to buy 57 yards of silk. That kind of red tape surrounds all British enterprise.

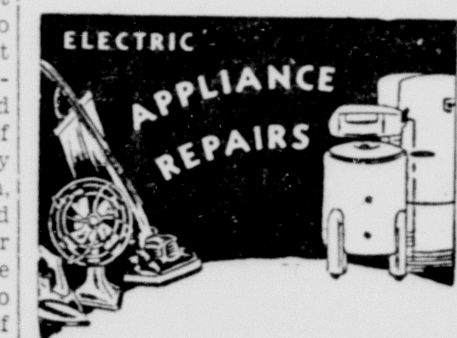

The waste from administrative failures has been serious. In parts of England, warehouses bulge with fruits and vegetables, and there is much spoilage. But people in the cities often go without because of bad distribution machinery.

Furthermore, agriculture has not been spared the whip of dictatorship. Mr. Dos Passos was told the story of what used to be one of the famous dairy farms of Wiltshire. Under a wartime law which has been continued indefinitely, the Ministry of Agriculture ordered the owner to plant so much of his land in grain and potatoes that he could no longer raise sufficient forage for his cattle. As a result, he had to sell part of his herd. Milk production naturally fell off, and the government cracked down and forced him to sell out, on the grounds that his farm had been improperly cultivated.

So there is England now—hungry, on the economic rocks, and saddled with an inefficient dictatorial bureaucracy. If this is true, why has Labor won every one of the 20 by-elections since the last general election? Mr. Dos Passos doesn't answer that explicitly, but the reasons, in part, may be found by reading between the lines. Many workers, remembering the dire conditions of the '30s, are bitter against the Conservatives. Many workers also earn more than ever, and if they can't buy commodities due to rationing and shortages, they can enjoy themselves gambling on horse and dog races and football pools—enterprises which are a major industry in modern England. Finally, the Labor politicians have exploited class prejudices and hatreds to the absolute limit in their search for votes.

Russia's removal of railway tracks from its zone of Germany is worrying some German business men. More than 4,375 miles of track have been taken up as reparations since 1945. All but three main lines are now single track.

OUR DEMOCRACY—by Mat

One Book-indispensable

Our forefathers depended on the Bible, often the only book in the family, for spiritual guidance and religious worship. Children were taught to read from it; from its pages people of all ages learned to appreciate the power and dignity of great poetry and prose.

Today as we seek guidance in meeting the serious problems before us, the Bible—with its words of wisdom, courage, solace and beauty—holds particular significance as THE ONE BOOK INDISPENSABLE IN AMERICA.

Bible Week—October 20-25

Chapel Is Scene Brewster-Gamble Wedding Rites

In the beautiful candlelighted chapel of the First Presbyterian Church in Pampa, Mrs. Kate Brewster of Borger, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. L. A. Donnell of Canyon, became the bride of D. C. Gamble of Guymon, Okla., son of Mrs. Pearl Nollner of Guymon, Saturday evening, October 4. Dr. Douglas Nelson, minister, read the marriage vows in an impressive ring ceremony.

Mrs. Raymond P. Smith of Borger attended the bride as matron of honor, and Raymond P. Smith served as best man. Mrs. Smith wore a black crepe dress with matching accessories and a corsage of red roses. The bride was attired in a two-piece suit of brown faille with gold and brown accessories. She wore a smart, close-fitting brown and gold hat, and her shoulder corsage was of yellow sweetheart roses.

Mrs. Gamble, a member of one of the pioneer families of the Panhandle, was reared in Canyon. She received her degree from West Texas State College in 1941. She is a member of Delta Zeta Chi campus sorority, Kappa Omicron Phi, and of the Beta Chi chapter of Beta Sigma Phi National sorority. At present, she is Home Demonstration Agent for Hutchinson County.

Mr. Gamble spent four years in military service and since his discharge has been employed by the K. L. B. Construction Co., of Guymon.

Following a short wedding trip, the couple will be at home in Borger until November 1, when they will move to Guymon to make their home.

Before President Truman will call a special Congressional session he will exhaust every possibility for a stop-gap aid to Western Europe. Despite Marshall's insistence in immediate recall, the President has directed his aids to find some device similar to the Hoover "moratorium" granted debtor nations in 1931, to keep Europe going until the regular session meets.

An ALL-ELECTRIC Kitchen In My 20 Year Old Home?

Sure Lady

Here's how you can do it!

Install Adequate Wiring now.

When your present home was built, perhaps the builder never thought you'd want to cook, refrigerate, and heat your water electrically. So he installed just enough wiring to supply service to a few electric lights and possibly an outlet or two.

To find out how to have an all-electric kitchen just call a wiring specialist from your Public Service Company, or an electrical contractor. They will be glad to tell you more about the wiring you will need.

We have nothing to sell but good electric service.

Adequate Wiring MEANS:

1. ENOUGH CIRCUITS for serving efficiently and safely all the appliances you have.
2. LARGE ENOUGH WIRE for serving your present and future needs.
3. ENOUGH OUTLETS AND SWITCHES for convenient living.

The show will be open from 10:30 a. m. until 9:00 p. m., and out-of-town guests are especially invited.

Mrs. E. C. Allison is show chairman, and Mrs. Joe Deason is president of the club. Exhibits will be in three divisions: artistic arrangements, specimens, and collections, and any amateur flower grower may enter.

Judging will be on the merit system, against perfection, rather than on a comparative basis, and a sweepstakes prize will be awarded for the most blue ribbons.

Expected to be shown are chrysanthemums, roses, dahlias, gladiolus, zinnias, marigolds, petunias, gallardias, snapdragons, nasturtiums and hardy asters, along with any other plant material used in the artistic arrangements. Arrangements are in 12 classes: for centerpiece, coffee tables, church console table, the new baby, pitcher or teapot, small and miniature arrangements, dish gardens, dried material, fruits, and corsages.

October Is Month For Renewals Of All Subscriptions

"This may be a joke about renewing subscriptions in October, but I do not intend being caught," stated a prominent Randall county citizen as he came to the News office to renew his Canyon News and his favorite daily newspaper.

The word is given to the Canyon News that the daily papers may be forced to discontinue bargain rates on November 1st. Frankly, we do not believe that this will be necessary, but in these days of constant changes, we are not surprised at anything.

Here at the News office we know that the print paper shortage is more acute than ever before. We are still getting enough paper in order to keep on taking subscriptions, both new and renewals. But we are having a tougher time finding a supply of print.

The big papers are up against a rock wall. They simply cannot get as much paper as they had last year. That is the real handicap to the dailies, but they are managing to get by some way or another.

If you wish to play safe, call at the News office and leave your check for $12.45 for both the Canyon News and the Amarillo News for the coming year.

Dr. Roy G. Boger Is Guest Seaker For Lions Club

Speaker for the Lions luncheon program Thursday, Oct. 16, was Dr. Roy G. Boger, popular and efficient Dean of the Amarillo Center, West Texas State College. Under the direction of Dean Boger this branch of the college has expanded since its founding in 1942 from a small nucleus of students to an enrollment of 382 students, pursuing courses in practically every department.

Following his specialty of the psychology of personality, Dr. Boger outlined the areas in which people must "sell" themselves to be successfully adjusted in society. A convincing manner, intellectual and emotional poise, a smile that springs from inner happiness, meticulous grooming and a genuine interest in others are prime essentials for such success. Not only in business do these principles apply, but home, church, or school relationships likewise demand this ability in personal salesmanship. The speaker demonstrated his subject very well in putting over his points with quick humor and apt illustrations.

Guests for the day included the following: with Lion Worth Jennings, Bill Sternberg and W. T. Oliver; with Lion A. K. Goodman, a new member in the local Lions club, W. T. McGregor; with Lion Leo DuPlot, F. W. Kendrick, of Toledo, Ohio.

Miss Beulah Hammond of Pampa spent the week end here visiting with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. John L. Hammond.

been slaughtered and skinned in great numbers and their bones left to dry on the prairies. In some places it is reported that the bones were piled so high as to resemble stacks of feed bundles or hay.

In '83, Mr. Baird recalled, the Kiowas and Comanches from Fort Sill, accompanied by Tom York, had been given permission to hunt and kill a buffalo for medical purposes. The chief was to kill the animal with a bow and arrow. After coming onto the caprock near Silverton, the buffalo were sighted along North Tule Creek, about 18 miles from what is now Canyon. The chief killed a buffalo, cut off the hump for medicine and left the rest for the coyotes. A short time later, the Indians discovered a herd of T-Anchor cattle grazing and killed one for meat. The government was obliged to pay the T-Anchor for the loss of the cow.

In the winter of '85, choice land could be purchased for 50c an acre, and a man could homestead on four sections at one time. Mr. Baird homesteaded on four sections located on the Tierra Blanca Creek in Deaf Smith county near Hereford in 1897. Some homesteaders built their houses on the location where the four sections joined, however Mr. Baird pointed out, the law only required that the three sections be within a five miles radius of the fourth or home section.

Mr. Baird was visiting in Wise county at the time of the Indian scare in 1891, when all of the families in the section fled to the court house and built barricades for protection. Luckily the raid failed to materialize.

In 1889 after the town of Canyon was established, the first saloon sprang up. Later, about 1898, following the building of the railroad, four or five saloons were added. As a result of this situation, Randall county held an election and was voted dry. No attempt has been made to vote whiskey in legally since that time.

Following the construction of the railroad, enterprising real estate firms bought options on the land in Randall county, and land agents sent out excursion trains from the Middle West which brought hundreds of prospective land buyers into this section. This caused a temporary boom and land was priced at $5 per acre up. Free passes were provided for persons who wished to see the Plains with the idea of buying land.

Mr. Baird remembers the first cars which appeared about the time of the land rush. He was running a lister in the field when he saw his first airplane. It was just after the close of World War I, and he stated that the mules he was driving became frightened at the plane and tried to run away.

He is largely responsible for the grand success of the Annual Cowboys' Reunion, and served as one of the officers of the organization for a number of years.

Mr. Baird enjoys telling of his experiences and the changes which time has brought about, and he is quite interested in the further developments which the untold resources of the Panhandle and Randall county will reveal.

60 Plants Held Ready for War

U. S. Plans for Specialized Production in Event Of New Crises.

WASHINGTON. — Sixty complete government owned industrial plants worth $2,301,348,000 are to be kept in readiness for specialized production should another war threaten this country, the war department discloses.

It is part of the army's plan to maintain the plants in readiness for industrial mobilization, Secretary of War Kenneth Royall said in a report covering the period July 1, 1945, to June 30, 1947.

The report was compiled under his direction while he was undersecretary of war, for submission to Robert Patterson, whom he succeeded as secretary of war.

Two Experiences Cited.

Royall commented that "twice within a generation, American industry has demonstrated that, given adequate time to convert to munitions production, it can out-produce any other nation in the world."

He added, however, that the rapid advances of science make it unlikely that "time will again be on our side."

Faces the Situation.

"The war department is facing the situation realistically in its preparation to maintain our future security."

"The ultimate objective of the plans is to have in stock, or to provide by prompt production in our arsenals and standby plants, sufficient material to resist an aggression during the first stage."

Cost of maintaining the 60 plants is estimated at $25,122,000 annually if none is leased for civilian use meanwhile.

With the maximum possible number of plants leased out, the department estimates it could save $10,834,000 annually.

Furthermore, the war department has authorized, pending adequate legislation, an industrial equipment reserve consisting of 776,393 machine tools and productive equipment, costing $350,000,000, earmarked for the army air forces and technical services.

The Royall report relates that through the army and navy munitions board, the war department is participating in the stockpiling program, which contemplates the purchase and storage of $2,500,000,000 of scarce strategic materials not available in sufficient quantity in the United States.

Plans for Underground.

It is the board's hope to complete all stockpile purchases in five to six years, beginning in 1947. While its accumulation of critical materials has been impeding somewhat by postwar civilian needs and by temporary high prices, yet during the last year 81 million dollars in materials have been purchased and 300 million dollars worth has been selected from surplus property.

Royall's report brought out that in a study of passive defense measures the war department has authorized the chief of engineers to spend $150,000 this year to investigate and develop construction of underground facilities.

The war department likewise has approved expenditure of $250,000 by the chief of engineers to determine ways in which "a chemical processing plant (currently operating above ground)" and an ordnance department fire-control instrument plant can be moved underground.

Royall said that the army air forces have been studying problems relating to manufacture of critical aircraft components in underground installations. As a result of these studies, Royall reported, it is planned to obtain funds during 1948 to enable the chief of engineers to construct a pilot plant underground.

Dog Decides Real Ownership; Hops Into Arms of Girl, 12

CHICAGO. — Rosemary Emmerich, 12, stood on one side in the courtroom of Judge John T. Zuris and Edward Kasmedor, 32, stood on the other.

In the middle was a little cocker spaniel, Blackie. The question—who was the rightful owner of Blackie? Judge Zuris let the dog decide. He ordered it unleashed, and it jumped into the arms of Rosemary.

Rosemary said it was her dog, explaining that she had given it to Edward Nowicki to train as a bird dog.

Nowicki said the dog disappeared and he saw it later in Kasmedor's automobile. Kasmedor testified he had bought the dog from Nowicki.

Disorderly conduct charges against Kasmedor were dropped, and Rosemary took Blackie home.

Runaway Boys Get Halfway To West on Lone Dollar

GALESBURG, ILL. — George Brown and Edward Shore, two Avella, Pa., 16-year-olds who ran away from home to go West with only $1 as capital, were picked up by police here, their dollar still unspent. They said they wished they could continue their trip.

Police said the boys had ridden freight trains and begged food along the way.

HERE IS A 4-UNIT DIESEL FREIGHT LOCOMOTIVE NOW OPERATED BY 2 MEN (1 ENGINEER AND 1 FIREMAN)

2 BRAKEMEN AND 1 CONDUCTOR COMPLETE THE CREW OF THIS TRAIN [One brakeman usually rides in the locomotive in freight service]

—BUT THE UNION LEADERS WANT 15 EXTRA "SITTERS" ON THIS TRAIN ... 3 ENGINEERS, 3 FIREMEN, 6 BRAKEMEN AND 3 CONDUCTORS ... TO GO ALONG FOR THE RIDE AT FULL PAY!

It's to your interest to know about this proposed feather-bedding!

For sheer feather-bedding, this mock work proposal takes the cake. But it is only one of 44 "rules" demands filed by the leaders of the operating unions. If all these demands were granted, they would cost the railroads an added BILLION DOLLARS A YEAR.

Increased Wages, Too

On top of these "rules" changes, the leaders of the operating unions have filed an additional demand for a wage increase of over 30 per cent. If granted, this would be an added cost to the railroads of $400,000,000 a year.

$468,000,000 To Non-Operating Employees

In addition to this, an Arbitration Board has just granted a wage increase of 15½ cents an hour to the million employees represented by the 17 non-operating unions. This will cost the railroads $468,000,000 a year.

Where Will The Money Come From?

Where will all the money come from to pay these increases? They total several times as much as the railroads made in 1946 or will make in 1947.

In July, the railroads filed an application for increased freight rates to close the gap which then existed between wage and material costs, and railroad revenues. Since then it has been necessary, because of further increases in wages and material costs, to supplement that petition and to ask for an additional freight rate increase. No other course is open.

Railroads Do Not Run For Employees Alone

Railroads are operated for the benefit of not one, but several groups—shippers, passengers, employees, stockholders, and the general public. The interest of all must be served—and that cannot be done unless the railroads can operate efficiently and economically, and unless they are allowed to earn sufficient revenue to provide the kind of transportation service this country MUST HAVE.

Scientists Discover Two 'Lost' Elements

Atomic Barrage Produces the Missing Factors.

BERKELEY, CALIF. — Two radioactive elements that existed two billion years ago were reported rediscovered by cyclotron bombardment.

Elements 85 and 87, the "missing links" in the periodic table of elements, have been created synthetically by cyclotron and atomic oven transmutation for the first time. The discoveries end a 75-year search for the key to one of the fundamental mysteries of science.

Dr. Glenn T. Seaborg and Dr. Albert Ghiorso of the University of California said the two "missing" elements, now called astatine and francium, existed in nature more than two billion years ago but decayed into other elements.

Research that went into the discovery of the missing elements, carried out independently by two groups of scientists, was reported in the current issue of Physical Review.

Seaborg said the cyclotron discovery accounted for the missing fourth series of heavy radioactive elements in the periodic table, which has been named the "neptunium" series since it has the longest period of radioactivity of any of the other elements in the series.

The other series contain elements in the uranium, thorium and actinium groupings—all found previously in nature or in the laboratory.

Seaborg said the inability of scientists to find elements 85 and 87 had been one of science's mysteries since the table of elements was established in 1871. The table lists elements in the order of their atomic "weight," determined by the number of protons in the nuclei.

He explained the neptunium was the "father" of the series and of the two elements. Like all radioactive elements, they decayed at a fixed rate which in the course of millions of years wiped them out of existence," he said.

Hunch Saves Baby; Tree Falls on Boy's Playpen

PHILADELPHIA. — A young father followed up a hunch—and it probably saved the life of his year-old son.

Benjamin Blank noticed several workmen sawing down a large maple tree near his house as he left for work. As he waved good-bye to his only child, gurgling happily in his playpen, he suddenly became worried about the tree and asked a worker where it would fall.

"Right out there in the middle of the street, boss—that's the way we're sawing it," shot back the worker.

Blank walked some distance, then turned and hurried back, taking the child into the house.

Then the tree crashed, ripping off a part of Blank's porch and smashing the playpen into bits.

Dazed Worker and Rescuer

Battle at Fourth Story Up

BALTIMORE.—Two construction workers struggled on a scaffold four stories above the ground before hundreds of onlookers.

The participants were Edward Jones, 41, who fell ill while chipping bricks on a downtown building, and Warren Catherman, 64, who swung himself up to the rescue on a boatswain's chair.

When Catherman attempted to steady the dazed man on the wooden perch, Jones started struggling frantically.

Catherman said he finally tried to knock Jones out to quiet him, and needed the help of Jesse Walker, 38, to hold him while firemen raised a ladder to take them all to the ground.

Jones received hospital treatment for face contusions. Catherman broke a knuckle.

Crippled Girl, 12, Bathes

In Lourdes Waters; Walks

PARIS. — The newspaper Figaro reported that Sally Ann O'Leary, the 12-year-old Pittsburgh girl who has been crippled since birth, had taken her first unsupported steps after bathing in the waters at the Shrine of Lourdes.

The account said she was "considerably improved" after her first bath and that she left her wheel chair and took several steps without aid.

The newspaper said the Lourdes bureau of certification, composed of doctors, priests and laymen, would delay any pronouncement on a possible cure for one year.

Five-Year-Old Shows Them

How Fish Ought to Bite

JEFFERSON CITY, MO. — Harold Clover, director of information for the Missouri conservation commission, his daughter, Judy, 5, and two friends went fishing.

Clover told Judy to wait until her cork went under, then jerk the line. She waited 30 seconds, impatiently knocked the cork below the surface with her pole, and pulled out a fish. Judy continued her unconventional technique and caught seven nice ones.

Clover and his two adult companions caught a total of eight.

The midsummer political pot was hot enough without pepper.

3 MINUTE FICTION Meddling Stranger

By Annie Wilson

THE broken-down bus was no longer in sight when Hollis Chandler looked back from the top of the hill. This was the second hill he had climbed since he left the other passengers down there huddled together like children waiting for Santa Claus or someone, to come along and give them a lift.

Perhaps he would have done just as well to wait, but it was only an hour until time for his appointment with Mr. Sanders of the Interstate Bus Lines. He looked at his watch and his jaw set in a determined line—four miles yet to the next stop. The pain shot through his knee again and sweat stood out on his forehead. He slowed his walk and set his foot more carefully each time.

It was then he saw the car parked beside the concrete road at the foot of the hill. Now he would get a ride if the driver didn't leave before he got there—the car was headed the other way. He tried to walk faster, then slowed down, the man was sitting on the fender, a big man, a fat man, as still as an Indian in the sun.

"Hi young fellow," he called when Hollis came near. "Stop and rest awhile."

He motioned to the fender beside him but made no move to give room except lean his knee a little to one side.

"How far have you walked?" The mild blue eyes looked Hollis over.

"About a mile." The man nodded his head. "Bus broke down." Hollis said disgustedly. "I'd like—"

He slowed his walk and set his foot more carefully each time.

"Where are the other passengers?" the man interrupted.

"Back there," Hollis motioned the way he had come, "waiting for another bus or a ride—"

"Hmmm—why didn't you wait?" "I have to be in town in less than an hour," he said shortly.

The big man shut one eye and blew out a puff of smoke that blotted out his face. "Any important-looking people on the bus?"

"One man got off at the last stop and took a taxi. The driver warned us the bus might not get in." Hollis forced his voice under control.

"How did you come to stick with it?" He leaned forward and his eyes lost their mildness.

"I'm interested in this line for one thing," Hollis' words came slowly, "and—my finances don't run to big taxi bills."

"What's your hurry to get to the next town, young fellow?"

HOLLIS settled himself again resignedly and pushed an ant off his sore knee with a blade of grass. "I'm going to meet a man connected with this bus line, and—" he stuck out his chin and his voice was hard as nails, "tell him what's wrong with it."

"Such as?" The fat man leaned forward eagerly.

"This—" Hollis made a wild gesture, "Sit on the road two hours waiting—just waiting—" He forgot he was talking to a meddlesome stranger and it all came pouring out. There would be a communication system like in the army, with the exact location of buses charted on maps at frequent intervals, someone to be there quickly in time of trouble. Bus travel in the future must be dependable; the fixtures to be comfortable and durable, nothing elaborate.

"People who want luxuries use their own cars, or ride trains or planes—it's the common people who need buses," Hollis finished out of breath.

Another car came roaring over the hill. Hollis stood up and stuck his foot out a time or two to test it before he stepped toward the car. The driver slackened his speed and waved at the man on the fender as he went by.

The fat man laughed.

Hollis whirled on him with a white face. "So—it's funny, is it?"

The big man looked at his watch. "Guess you're the only one impatient to get to where he's going."

Hollis watched with a grin of relief as the fat man in one easy motion shifted his huge bulk to a standing position and put out his hand to open the door.

"Get in," he motioned Hollis to the other side.

But Hollis stood transfixed and felt even the back of his neck getting red. For there on the door hidden by the man's body were the words: "J. R. Sanders, Interstate Bus Lines."

Sees No War With Russians Soon"Russia is doing a good job of building," stated Mayor Lawrence Hagy Tuesday at the Rotary Club luncheon. "I do not believe that we shall ever have to fight Russia. The people in that country brought out their best and now Russia predominates in the Communism game."Mayor Hagy was a Colonel in the army during the war. He was sent to Hungary in charge of all prisoners. There is a small oil field there, which was developed by Standard Oil Co. When the Americans left in 1945, Hungary operated the field for Germany until 1946.
The field was never worked and was a great source of supply.American planes bombed and destroyed the refinery. When the Russians moved in, a tank American engineers put in days to allow enough material to put the refinery back into operation. Tanks and trucks filled up at the refinery and reached the battle front in five miles.During the war the finest relationship existed between the Russians and Americans. The Russians did everything our troops wanted.
But they were jealous and suspicious. The Russians would steal from the Americans and steal them in a trade. While Russia owns one-fourth of the land of the world, and has a population of 100 to 150 million, the American soldier was worth three Russians. Russian officers had to respect for life. They refused to allow American soldiers beyond their lines in spite of the fact that they were training their soldiers, and giving them all kinds of provisions.Today Russia is spending most money for schools, but the Russian child is taught just what the government wishes them to know.
The newspapers and radios are controlled by the government. The peo-
sian propaganda. Col. Hagy stated that he saw in pictures the surrender of the Axis. But not a single American was shown. The Russian people asked: "Why did not Americans help us whip Germany and Japan?"The Russian soldier knows nothing of practical things such as operation of trucks and tanks.
When a machine goes dead, it stops dead. When he goes to battle he is given a piece of fat meat, and must live on that and the damage he can find in the country.When the war ended, Russia had 12 to 14 million soldiers which she could not send home, as their fir-mer homes were destroyed. Russia started these in the states which she wanted to dominate.Russia puts its attention to the British and American soldiers which remain. She makes agreements, and then breaks them. Colonel Hagy said of his experiences in trying to deal with the Russian. They scream and get in your face as they give you their point of view—pure bluff.The state department has not backed our American troops by being firm with the Russians.Americans talk about inflation.
Colonel Hagy showed in Hungarian all which was worth $200,000 before the war, and cost him ten cents.In Moscow he visited a grocery store, where all the American goods were at sale at reasonable price.
I just had a coupon, after you used up your coupons the food was at black market prices, operated by the government. Moscow is a beautiful city with fine theatres, swimming pools, etc. Some of the people were well dressed, but most of them were very shabbily clothed.
The people of Hungary do notwant the Communists around, but returned from a very successful deer hunt near Cimarron, Colo. All of the hunters got their bucks, and report that there was also a lot of excitement, which resulted in some buck and had to shoot another to keep it from running over him. Mr.

Martin had quite a thrill when he shot a pack horse coming down the trail with a buck packed on his back.
The horse had jerked loose, and was bucking down through the tim-

GOOD WILL AMBASSADOR

EUGENIO V. PESQUEIRA
"... consular service is fascinating."

Friendly relations between Mexico and the United States have never been better in the history of the two countries. So thinks the honorable representative from that South of the Border country, Senor Eugenio V. Pesqueira, Mexican consul who has been stationed in Amarillo since the establishment of the consulate during the last part of the summer.

In an address to members of the International Relations Club here Thursday evening, he attributed much of the increased good feeling to the sizable part his nation played on the side of the allies in the war. Further indication of the neighborly feeling, he said, was President Truman's recent visit to the Mexican capital.

"At the present there are many opportunities in Mexico for young Americans," asserted the slight and charming Latin, whose good-humored sincerity before the West Texas audience won him many admirers.

Concerning Property
Referring to restrictions by law on foreign ownership of Mexican property, he explained that the rules had been relaxed since the pre-war action which necessitated the change.

In Texas, he declared, there are 14 consulates, based on importance of commerce of the surrounding district (the Amarillo office is in the center of a rich agricultural area) and on percentage of Mexican population. Through their representatives, Mexico also hopes to facilitate arrangements for tourists and to promote trade of the two nations.

Switching to lighter subject matter, the dark and suave-appearing Pesqueira speculated on the future which diplomatic service offers—

Likes Job
"Because your functions are so variable, they are very fascinating,"

he advised, "but there's no money in it. If you don't want to have to keep up with the Joneses, you'd better choose another field."

In other business, members of IRC elected Charles Owens president for the coming year. Additional officers include: Ruth Patman, assistant chairman; Charlene Giesecke, program chairman; Bonita Kellin, secretary-treasurer; Carroll Doshier, annual representative; and Maureen Medlen, Prairie representative.

As soon as he receives material from the Mexican headquarters, Pesqueira will return to the campus to show movies to the International organization.

Guests Sunday in the home of Mr. and Mrs. M. C. Sanders were Mr. and Mrs. Wilbur Young and Buck, and Mr. and Mrs. Charlie Danford and sons, all of Santa Rosa; Mr. and Mrs. Luther Murphy and sons, Leroy and Ray, of Excel, and Mr. and Mrs. Gene Peppard and children of this city.

Scarlet Fever Is Common During the Winter Months

The State Department of Health has issued a warning in regard to scarlet fever, since the number of cases usually increases during the fall months. The majority of deaths from this disease occur during the months from October through February.

Scarlet fever is a very contagious and serious disease. Grown people may contract it, but children under 15 years are especially apt to have it, if exposed. It is especially dangerous for children under 5 years, and Dr. Geo. W. Cox, State Health Officer, warns mothers to "not let your children take any chances with scarlet fever. Call the doctor as soon as any suspicious symptoms appear."

Dr. Cox said that the first signs you may notice are that the child seems tired, restless and out of sorts. Usually, there is a sore throat, chills, vomiting, or in some cases convulsions and fever. The skin is dry and hot, the tongue is furred, and, under this furry covering, it is red and swollen. In ordinary cases, these early signs are followed in a day or two by a rash. Little flat red points, close together, appear first on the neck and chest and soon the rash, very red in color, spreads over most of the body.

The doctor is required by law to report the case to the local health officer. It is important that the family follow carefully the quarantine instructions which the health officer issues, since a severe or fatal case of scarlet fever may develop from contact with one who has only a slight attack. Children who have had scarlet fever, or who have been exposed, must not return to school until permission is given by the health officer and physician.

German engineers estimate that there are 18 billion tons of coal, now untouched, in the Ruhr north of Aachen. They say that this coal could be obtained by surface mining but that 100,000 tons of steel and an expenditure of $400 million would be needed to do the job.

And that reminds me of the story of the young ranchman who was strolling along with a pretty girl when they saw a calf on one side of a fence thrust its head through the fence and rub its nose against its mother's face, in the adjoining pasture. Upperclasses Attend Frolics

Junior Ball is Given Victors in Contest

Negroes, tramps, gypsies, and other odd creatures were all that could be seen at the Junior's class party. The losing side of the magazine sales gave the other side a costume ball.

Students attending this ball were: Mable Ann Graham as an old fashioned girl, Jimmie Lindsay as a tramp, Gerald McDuff a negro, Benjie Woods a farmer, Billy Cleavinger a preacher, Sara Jane Martin a gypsy, Ema Gene Zachry, a ho-bo, Bobby King as a Dogpatch citizen, Mary Sue Foster as an old fashioned girl, Laura Davis as Martha Washington, Gladys Lowe as a devil, Peggy La Loge as a cigarette girl, Juanita Avent as a Spanish girl, Don Hickman a tramp, Sue Ann Colwell a ballet dancer, Richard Walters as Al Jolson, Janey Forester a little bitty girl, Horace Carter as a noncom, Sue and Fay Dickerson as French girls, Jerre Inman as Coach R. D. Wheelock, Rebecca Irvine as a cow-girl, Billie Marie Money as a Spanish girl, Ramona Simon a western cowgirl and all others are fictions.

Well, at least I can't figure them out.

"TO BE OR NOT TO BE"

The race is on! What race? The race for president and vice-president of the S. F. C. Who will get it? That's for the student body to decide.

Everyone who is running is really a swell "kid," but; are you going to vote for him or her because of this or because they are handsome or ugly or tall or short, "A" student or "D" student?

No, they should be backed because of their ability to get up before people. Do we want someone who we can be proud of or a person who will get up and stutter and stammer around when we have distinguished visitors in assembly.

This election deserves a lot of careful study from every angle before votes are cast.

Think it over "kids" and let's have a prexy CHS can be proud of!

Wall plugs were installed in a few of the class rooms and the principal's office. Mrs. Simms has double sockets in her room which she will use to operate a record player that will give selections from the classics for the benefit of the English students.

The extra plug installed in Mr. Miller's office is to be used in various ways to facilitate the work there.

Have you noticed that the papers are gone from the lawn in front of our high school building this year? A plea was made by Principal J. E. Miller for this change and the students have followed it through. Papers are now disposed of in the waste paper cans placed there for that purpose.

Ten ex-students visited Canyon High School last Friday. These were Gracie Boyd, Dorothy Gafford, Billy Abbott, James Guthrie, Gerry Small, Zell Zachry, Margaret Lair, Pauline Ruthart, Shirley Harrison, and George Schaeffer.

Your old friend Cal happened to wander into the second period English IV class the other day and you should have seen all the apples on Mrs. Simms' desk. I wonder what the motif was. Could it be because of the six weeks tests?

Troy Thurman was seen waiting for Weedon Young to catch up with him so he could walk to school with her. Tell me, Weedon, where does Guy Brant fit in?

I wonder if that Freshman Queen candidate, Anita Ruthart, has chosen her escort yet? Maybe you have a chance, Tommy Dotson.

Peggy LaLoge and Tommy Tucker from WT High School have been seen around town lately. You're doing OK, Peggy.

Ema Gene Zachry and Bill May from Happy are still hitting it off together. At least it seemed that way Saturday night.

It seems our co-captain, Lee Bailey has acquired many new admirers from the Grade School. At least it seemed so from those esteemed glances.

Paige Carruth and that Ex-student of CHS, Mary Ann Parker have really been together a lot lately.

These Freshman girls really have been getting around lately: Betty Miller—Don Hickman, Martha Ann Bagley—Carroll Wray Dickerson

Bertha Lindsey—Mickey King, Merle Bullard—Tony Rusk, Shirley Yaryan—Donnell Ruthart

WT High School and CHS students have been going together this week. Jimmy Lindsey and Dorothy Berry and Gerald McDuff and Jean Pitt were seen at the show Sunday night.

Rusty Davis and Martha Wilson were seen after the ball game, Friday night. Did you have a good time kids?

What is it that Joyce Carter likes about WT High School? Could it be that cute H. C. Dawson?

Janey Forester and Tommy Hunter were seen having a very good time at the show Sunday night. Where does Austell fit in?

Wayne Prichard, who was that cute girl with you at the show Saturday night?

Juanita Avent and James Inman have rekindled an old flame. At least it seemed so Sunday night.

Jean Hill is looking forward to a date with a certain college boy, but she seemed to be enjoying herself Sunday with Jerre Inman.

Room Mothers Help Seniors Give Social

"We're off" was an exclamation heard last Tuesday at 6:30 when the seniors left the Canyon High School building on a hay ride, their first social of the year.

The group, accompanied by their sponsor, Mr. T. L. Devin, co-sponsor, Miss Lurline Bowman, and room mothers, Mrs. E. A. Michael, Mrs. B. A. Burrus, Mrs. M. L. Davis, Mrs. J. R. Barrett, and Mrs. Alfred Bellah journeyed to the country club where they had a weiner roast.

While the mothers made preparations for the weiner roast, the class played ring games.

Coming back on the wagon, the class sang songs and told stories.

Organizations March Saturday in Parade

Canyon High School's Drum Corps and A Cappella Choir, under the direction of Mr. M. D. Shepherd, were two of the many organizations participating in the Homecoming parade Saturday morning.

The fifteen Drum Corps members were dressed identically in purple trousers and white blouses and the twirlers and majorette wore white satin skirts and blouses.

Choir members wore maroon choir robes. The choir, standing on a truck before the Olympic theater, sang a number of selections. As the parade passed, it then came to its place behind the Canyon Independent school buses. "The Star Spangled Banner," "Smoke Gets in Your Eyes," "Down in the Valley," and "Tell Me Why" were the selections sung by the choir.

Corps and Choir members attended the barbecue and were admitted free of charge to the football game.

Homemakers Try Everyday Duties

First year Homemaking girls have been studying "Improving the relationship with the family and friends," for the last five weeks. Also they studied table service by serving mock meals.

The second year girls have been studying the care of the home. Each girl gave a report from a magazine on how to simplify the home work. Care of the clothing has been another one of their projects.

DRESSING ROOM IS NAMED

"Eagles Nest"—a resort? Well, yes, the one in New Mexico is, but we have one right here in CHS, although it can hardly be called a resort place. The football boys unanimously voted Thursday afternoon to name their dressing room the "Eagles Nest." Manager Pite was elected to paint the sign and install it over the door.

The sign is the climax of a painting spree in which the walls were draped with signs to all players, such as: "It takes 11 men," "Hustle," "Drive," "It takes Chatter," "Block Down Field Too," and "Never Stop."

"This gives us more spirit and fight in our games," stated Co-captain Bible.

$971.65 is the amount which the junior class will receive from the magazine sales. This is $200 more than was received last year. It will go to the class treasury to be used for necessary expenditures during the year.

Bouquets of autumn flowers consisting of dahlias, chrysanthemums, and zinnias, have been adorning all of the high school teachers desks these last few weeks.

The flowers, some grown by teachers themselves and others contributed by the students, indicate their interest in beautifying the rooms. These flowers, some of large size and variety, prove that more plants could be grown in this community if more folk would make this their hobby.

Something is missing with the students of the high school this week. Can anyone decide just what it is? Somehow the boys look different. There is a blank space,—yes, it is the fact that Homecoming at WTSC is over. No Whiskers!

Greenhands Are FFA Members

Fourteen Green Hands, initiated into the National Organization of the Future Farmers of America last Tuesday, are still cold from the ordeals they underwent. They were forced to sit on a block of ice and to repeat the FFA creed.

Other trials they endured were rolling a peanut down a chalked line with the nose until given orders to stop and to whistle; being forced to donate $5 to the chapter to help buy a popcorn popper; sitting on a pipe suspended from the ceiling and battling with pillows until the loser fell to the floor on electrically charged wires; attempting to drop quarters from the foreheads without the use of hands into a funnel attached to the belt, into which was poured cups of water by pranksters, eating worms and dirt while they, the boys, were blindfolded, which was in reality cracker crumbs and spaghetti.

Then followed the formal ceremony in which the initiates were told the future aims of the organization. The Greenhands, having pledged full cooperation by giving the creed, were accepted as members in full standing.

Last came the announcement that the Canyon Chapter is awarded honorable mention by the State Organization for worthiness of aims and successful achievement.

Avent, Black Are Team Captains

Martha Jean Avent and Chloe Ann Black will serve the Eaglettes' Basketball team as co-captains this season. They were elected by the girls' basketball club last Monday afternoon.

Martha Jean, senior, has been active in physical education during her high school career. She was a member of the District Volleyball Championship team of two seasons ago. She was, also, the FFA sweet heart of 1946, and this year she is alternate Pep Squad leader.

Chloe Ann Black, junior, has also, been active as a member of the CHS Eaglette team. She was a substitute on the District Volleyball team of 1945. This year she is treasurer of the junior class.

These girls will alternate in captaining the Eaglette squad in this year's games.

Joyce Brant checked out Monday to move to Gains, Texas. She will attend school in Hobbs, New Mexico.

Grade Notes

"Happy Birthday" was sung to all Mrs. Murrell's students whose birthdays were in October and the last of September. Cookies and punch were served to Edwin Boswell, Clark Carlton, Gary Humphreys, Arthur Lee Pruitt, Weldon Tucek, Winnie Davis, Joy Gray, May Holland, Marlene Lundegreen, Juanita Welch, and Mrs. Murrell whose birthdays were all in October or September.

In Mrs. Black's room were several visitors this week which included Mr. and Mrs. W. R. New, Mrs. J. C. Newton, Mrs. J. D. Turner, Mrs. C. G. Pond, Mrs. Hoyt Hyde, and Mrs. C. F. Rouges.

While Mrs. Roberts substituted for Mrs. Jones in the sixth grade, "The Little Red Hen" was enacted in Spanish by 61 and presented to 6D.

Carrying out the study of manufacturing industries, both sections of the Social Studies Class were taken to Amarillo to visit the following industrial plants: Mann's Bakery, Coca-Cola Bottling Company, KGNC Radio Station, Pinkney Packing Plant, Borden's Creamery. Assisting Mrs. Iversen in this all-day event was Mrs. John Davis.

On Tuesday, October 14, Mrs. Walsh's 5th grade was entertained Walsh's 5th grade was entertained Jones' 5th grade. Miss Fronabarger was the special guest and refreshments were served to all.

Methodist Pastor Is Speaker

Pastor of the Methodist church in Amarillo, Reverend E. Lee Stanford, was guest speaker in assembly Tuesday morning at nine o'clock. Other speakers were Reverend Hubert Thomson of the local Methodist church and Reverend Bernard Henderson of the Methodist church at Vega.

Reverend Thomson introduced the main speaker with these and other words:

"A long, long time ago before monkeys chewed tobacco there lived in the town of Crowell three boys. Lee was the oldest and I was the youngest and had to do what he told me to. We all went to the same school, same church, and had the same Sunday School teacher. Vernon and I started to school together in the same year, same day, and same grade."

"No one thought those three boys would ever be preachers."

Reverend Stanford spoke on the way we live and think. A few of his words were:

"Ten per cent of the people think while the others think they think."

"The question in life is to be or to have. To have is good but to be is even better."

"The dreams one has patterns one's life."

Reverend Stanford has been holding a revival at the Methodist church here.

Mrs. A. K. Knott was absent due to illness Tuesday, October 14. Superintendent E. A. Wooten substituted in her classes. Mrs. Knott returned Wednesday to give six weeks exams.

Paula Frazier Is P. E. Instructor

Miss Paula Frazier, blond-haired, blue-eyed coach of girls' basketball, teaches three girls' physical education classes for her first time in Canyon High School this year.

A graduate from Waco High School, Miss Frazier served in the Women's Marine Corps for two years during the war and was stationed at Washington D. C. She played basketball and attended one semester at George Washington University while serving.

The worst thing she can find to do anytime is study and she loves to play any kind of sports, especially basketball and volleyball.

When asked about the basketball team this year, she emphasized that we were going to win every game and that she really enjoyed coaching the Eaglettes.

Longer Skirts Induce Varied Comments

"To be long, or to be short," that is the questionaire regard to women's skirts. The following poll was taken and this is the results:

"Rusty" Davis—On some they look good and on some they don't.

Wayne Griffin—No I definitely do not like them.

Mrs. Simms—As far as the changing of styles is concerned it is OK but when they get so long that you can't let out the hems of your old dresses to make them long enough I don't like it.

"Buck" Guthrie and Billy Abbott, (exs to you who don't know)—Grandma's day is gone.

Martha Jean Avent—I don't like them because it makes the girls have to get new wardrobes and it makes their legs look uglier.

Meade Michael—If they are going to do anything shorten 'em.

Lee Bailey—I think they're a flop. They ought to be shorter.

Albert Craig and Bruce Winn—I think that long dresses and dark hose are very becoming especially on red-headed women.

Letha Harwood—I think they stink.

Mable Graham—I think they are more becoming. They also hide old age.

Donna Erwin—I think they're OK if they don't get so long that we trip over them every time we take a step.

Wayne Prichard—I don't like them. They're too long now.

Dorothy Butler—I think they're OK a little bit longer but not too long.

Has everyone seen the new cowboy boots that Superintendent Wooten is wearing? He has joined the floor thumpers as they pound down the halls of Canyon High. Those red-top, green bottom models with the purple eagles on the straps can dance with that jive rhythm and emphasize the Western atmosphere.

Canyon Gridders Wait For Olton

Purple and White Hailed Second Defensive Team

Canyon High School is playing for the district title and will meet Olton Friday in their first conference tilt with this team which just entered our district.

Canyon is rated second in the ten top defensive teams having twenty points scored against them in five starts. The Wellington Skyrockets are rated first with six points scored against them in five games.

Last week Canyon High's Eagles trampled the Friona Chiefs 43-0 before a large group of Ex's.

Tommy Hunter opened Canyon's scoring spree with a twenty yard jaunt after Wayne Prichard and Meade Michael had made a first down on two consecutive tries. Kick by Hunter was not good.

The second tally was set up when James Inman ran 22 yards from his own forty. Inman again battered his way for another first and ten. Hunter plunged the remaining yardage for a touchdown.

The third fumble came shortly afterwards when Friona fumbled on their own thirty-six. Michael sped twenty yards for a touchdown after successive gains by his team members. The attempt for the extra point failed.

Canyon's second team took over in the second half with Joe Abbott making the fourth touchdown. The kick for the extra point was not good. Left end Jerre Inman made a surprisingly hard catch on a pass from Billy Joe McCarter to make the score 30-0. McCarter scored the sixth touchdown after Richard Walters had plunged ten yards for a first and ten. The extra point was not made good.

Friona took to the air in a desperate attempt to score. Austell Burrus intercepted one of these passes to run seventy yards behind stiff interference for the final touchdown. Horace Carter caught a pass from Hunter for the extra point.

As the game ended the score stood 43 to 0.

For entertainment during the half, Canyon High's drum corps and pep squad performed on the field. Forming the word EX'S the pep squad formed an F and a C with the Drum Corps in formation between each.

Old Dinner Bell Rings And Lights Are Out

Lights that were out and large old-fashioned dinner bells were predominating in the halls of CHS last Friday. An electric pole on the south side of the school fell and the bells and lights were disconnected. A large old-fashioned bell was rung to dismiss and begin classes and no lights were used.

YOUR MONEY GOES ~~FAST~~ FASTER in Today's Food Market

% INCREASES of Retail Prices over Base Period 1935-1939

Figures released October 1 by the U. S. Bureau of Labor Statistics show graphically why it is increasingly difficult for the housewife to stretch her food dollars so she can give her family three meals a day that are nutritionally sound. The National Dairy Council points out that milk prices have been relatively steady over the nation, and have increased 37.0 per cent LESS than the average for all foods since 1939 and 23.2 per cent LESS than the average since the first of this year. Hence milk, in addition to being nature's most nearly perfect food, actually leads the food field as the housewife's most economical buy.

Washington Newsletter

By Eugene Worley, Congressman

The membership of the House Committee on Agriculture was called back to Washington last week to resume hearings on a long range agricultural program.

A large number of witnesses were heard last week and still more are scheduled to appear as the hearings run into November. The information and recommendations provided by these witnesses have been valuable and helpful, but it is my desire to call upon the farmers and ranchers of my own District to find out what they themselves think. The purpose of this release therefore is to request all farmers and ranchers, whether renters or owners, to provide me with any ideas or suggestions which they might have.

No legislation of greater importance to the farmers and ranchers and business interests of our part of the country will be considered by the next session of Congress. The Texas Panhandle has been blessed with many valuable natural resources which we hope will last forever. But after our oil and gas reserves have disappeared, we must still rely on topsoil for food, fiber, and prosperity. Unless our farmers and ranchers can secure a fair price for what they produce, they will have little or no purchasing power and will be unable to patronize merchants and other businesses in our communities and towns. If agriculture hits the skids after this war like it did not too many years ago then the good times which we all want will not be realized. I think all of us can remember nickel cotton, six-bit wheat, five cent beef, bread lines, soup kitchens, etc., and it all started with the collapse of farm prices. Congress is trying its best to avoid a repetition of those conditions, and one of the first steps to take is to avoid another collapse of farm prices.

In a democracy people tell their Representative what they want him to know. And what they think, is of the utmost importance to him in the discharge of his duties.

I am therefore requesting you, whether a businessman, tenant farmer, rancher, or your own operator, let me know what you think should go into a long range agricultural program which will conserve our soil, and bring about a strong and stable agricultural economy with a minimum of governmental supervision. It is useless to hope for a high standard of living unless our agriculture is sound. A postcard or letter addressed to me in Washington expressing your ideas and suggestions will be most welcome.

Next to autos, most-wanted consumer durables are refrigerators and washing machines. Demand for homes is picking up again because of rent increases and a growing belief home prices may not slip more than a little for a long time.

NEW 1947 SERVEL STAYS SILENT

You won't hear a sound with the new 1947 Servel—when it's installed or after years of use. That's because of Servel's famous, different freezing system with no moving parts. There are no motors, valves or belts to cause noise—none to wear or need fixing. A tiny gas flame circulates the refrigerant that produces constant cold and ice cubes galore—silently, efficiently, dependably.

What's more, the new 1947 Servel Gas Refrigerator brings you the last word in modern storage for fresh and frozen foods. The big Frozen Food Locker holds up to 60 standard-size packages of frozen meats, vegetables, fruits. And for fresh foods, there are two dew-action vegetable fresheners as well as a generous-size meat keeper. Today—stop in and see the new Servels on display.

Another Touchdown!

Buffaloes Outplay Indians To Win Homecoming Game 38-0 Saturday

Saturday was Homecoming Day for the West Texas State Buffaloes and they made the most of it as they stampeded over the Indians from Hardin College 38-0. The game was played before the largest and most colorful crowd in the history of the school, and was a game which most of the 5,500 ex-students of W. T. enjoyed thoroughly.

The highly-touted Tribe was really never in the ball game and the statistics proved that they were outplayed in every division. As the game opened with the Buffaloes kicking off, it appeared as if the men from Wichita Falls might give the team from Canyon a fight to the finish, but soon after that, it took all the defense they could muster to hold back the stalwart Buff forward wall and running attack.

In the opening moments the Indians made a definite threat to the Buff offense as they threw the Herd for three consecutive losses and then gained some yardage by a penalty. However, the Buffs were soon back on the Indian 6 yard line by exchanging punts and some long runs. A pass from Johnson was intercepted on the Indian goal line penalty. However, the Buffs were and run back to the 14 by Gravelly.

New Mexico A-M Next Opponent

Next Saturday night the West Texas Buffaloes will again be facing Border Conference competition in a game with the New Mexico Aggies at Las Cruces, N. M.

And the game will be a test of power for both teams as they size up almost identically in squaden and weights. However the Aggies will have the edge on experience as Coach Raymond (Babe) Curfman has 26 of his 1946 team back and all but one of his last season starting lineup in action this year.

Out of the 96 who reported at the beginning of the practice sessions this year the coaches picked a crew of 40 to carry the burden for the Aggies.

So far this year the Aggies have been defeated three times. McMurry, Colorado State and New Mexico University have all taken home victories from the hapless Crimson Cavaliers, but the Buffaloes will have to be on their toes to see victory over them.

In weights and comparative sizes of the squads, the Ags will have an advantage in weight with 10 men who weigh 200 pounds or over and only four who tip the scales at less than 170. The Buffs, on the other hand, will have the same forward wall that held Tech, Texas Mines and Hardin to only comparatively small gains. Both lines will average approximately the same.

Backfields will both be tricky and have speed to back up the line work. Power will also play a part in the Saturday tilt. Budd Atterbury will hold down the Aggie fullback position and is noted for his plunging, while Jerry Nuzum, Bud Wilborn and I. D. Sparks will handle most of the running with Sparks, and Bob Schatzabel helping with the passing offensive.

But the Buffs will still have their hands full in Las Cruces Saturday and will need all the support the school can give them. Every Conference win means that the Buffs have that much better chance of getting in the first division of the Border Conference.

ton's conversions accounted for two points.
